1.0 Introduction

Final Fantasy VI was a very popular game for the SNES, and due to that popularity Square-Enix has given it a well deserved remake. Or port, call it as you wish, watch me care. Along with this remake we were given a new translation, half new actually as most of the original game is still here and the other is just the standard FF names. This can bring to quite confusing moments when using your old SNES knowledge in this game. Even more if you are using one of the wonderful FAQs for the SNES version. This FAQ is to take the roll of that intermediary dictionary, for you to look up what is new and what is unchanged, to ease the play of the old and new.

But what really drives me to spend some hours tipping this FAQ and recollection info is something I've learn from assasin17 in the old boards: 90% OF THE FFVI QUESTIONS CAN BE ANSWERED WITH A LINK TO A FAQ. That's true because this game is one of the most documented ever, thanks to the efforts of many as Master ZED,Djibriel, assasin17 just to name some. Now, this document is the door to understand and use that wonderful information that was so hard to recollect. Take this as a tribute, a mere reference, to the work of some better than me, to the ones that made me know all I know about this game.

Note that this FAQ will NOT have any fancy ASCII or the like, I believe in simplicity. A simple game should have a simple FAQ. I'm sure that the Dial-up users will love this.

This document is complete since its first release, but doesn't mean that is the Final Version. New things may be added as I see fit and mistakes I oversaw will be corrected. To contribute with this FAQ refer to the Contact section.

NOTE: This FAQ only lists the namethat changed, if you don't find it here it was left as the original.

9.0 Contact Information

If you are interested in contacting myself for any reason concerning this FAQ or the game itself feel free to send an e-mail to:

juanmd88_at_yahoo.com.ar

(For security reasons you need to change _at_ to @ manually)

Please note that while most questions and requests are welcome it's important that you follow some rules while emailing:

. Use a subject that identifies the mail as something about FFVIA, I get SPAM everyday so there is no reason to not delete you "HI!" mail.

. Use proper grammar and spelling, English or Spanish mails are wellcome. I don't like to get headaches from mail reading. If you think this rule "SUXS", you are probably better not mailing me.

. Don't flame. If you don't think this guide is good or usefull say it, if you also want to add some solutions to the problem I'll be more than pleased.

Constructive criticism is nice, bashing is not.

. If you are contributing to the FAQ add in the mail how you want to be recognized in the Thanks section.

. While I surely love hearing stuff about your life or other games, please talk about this game/FAQ in your mail.

That's pretty much all, they are no brainers. But sometimes it's better to make them clear...

10.0 Thanks and credits

The ones that helped directly or indirectly to this FAQ, or just the people I like for beeing themselves.

Square - You made FFVI, so this is only because of you.

Nintendo - For doing something smart and porting this game.

Lufia_Maxim - Your FAQ was REALLY usefull while ordering the Enemies section. That FAQ rules man! Also thanks for you contribution to version 1.4.

KOTRsss - For giving me the Slots names, even if he didn't know he was helping the FAQ.

MinisterofSillyWalks and Nazzov - For pointing my mistake with the Mythril Mail and Vest. Nazzov re-corrected me after doing it wrong the second time.

Joshua - For pointing me a lot of mistakes and misspellings.

nights faded dreams - For a lot of names I missed and a lot of misspelings too. He also made a GIGANTIC contribution to the enemies section.

Modus Ponens - For adding Mt. Koltz.
