2~~~~~Introduction~~~~~

Here I am, doing yet another FAQ, but this one was really squeezed in there, because I am now working on three FAQs. Since this is short, I decided to make this, for those curious music lovers out there. I love music, all kinds, and yes, even game music. Zelda had always appealed to me in every way, shape, or form. Especially the music, composed by Mitsuhiko Takano. So I hope you enjoy this.

3~~~~~Sound Test~~~~~

./>What is a sound test?<*.

A sound test is where you get to listen to music in the game you are playing. Since you are playing The Legend of Zelda: Minish Cap, you will hear music from it.

./>How do I unlock the sound test?<*.

Okay, the first thing to know about the Sound Test is that, once you get 130 figurines (there are 136 total) from Carlov (it is hell trying to get them) you unlock the sound test. Where? Well, in Hyrule Town, go to the left side of the house that has a big golden statue on the roof. There is a guy sitting by a table who says he is really rich and tells you to talk to him after getting 130 figures. When you do, go talk to him and he unlocks the right side of the house with the golden statue. In there, you'll find a heart piece, 600 rupees, and a phonograph. Go to the phonograph and that, my friends, is the sound test. It has 52 tracks. Here they are:

- 1: Intro/Start Screen
- 2: Hyrule Castle "Jingle"
- 3: Getting Element
- 4: Great Mayfly/Dragonfly/Butterfly
- 5: Game Over
- 6: (This is the opening title for LTP and is not in the game)
- 7: Vaati's Theme
- 8: Ezlo Appears
- 9: Introduction
- 10: Climbing the Beanstalk
- 11: Inside a House/Building
- 12: Minigame
- 13: Syrup's Potion Shop

4~~~~~Epilogue~~~~~

5~~~~~Frequently Asked Questions~~~~~

Okay, maybe some of these aren't so frequent, but they can be very informal.

Q: How do I get the sound test?

A: Collect 130 figurines and talk to the man behind the Cafe. Then he opens a house with a golden statue on top.

Q: How did you know all of them?

A: Well I had a lot of help and I just memorized it. For the end parts I had to fight the last boss a few times to get those down.

Q: I only have 28 tracks, is there a problem? (Asked by John Chrapkowski)

A: No. You have to actually hear the songs to get them on the sound test. If you haven't beaten the game, you won't have the songs that you hear in the end of the game.

Q: I only have 135 figurines and Carlov says he will make one more. I waited three days, and he still hasn't made it. I've beaten the game, so where is the figurine? (Asked by Kevin van Abel)

A: Well, in order to get the figurine, you need to have seen it first. For instance, if you've seen Vaati Reborn, then the Vaati Reborn figurine will become available. You will just have to search for the person or monster you want to have a figurine of.

Q: You say that you need to see the monster, person, etc. in order to get the figurine, but I have a figurine (Funday School), and I haven't actually seen the real "Funday School. Why is this? (Brought up by Wesley Rice)

A: That is very interesting. You DO need to see the monster, etc. in order to get it's figurine, but this isn't the same. There are a few possibilities though:

1. You don't need to see a building to get its figurine.
2. You only need to see the outside of the building.
3. You need to hear about it, to get the figurine.
4. Once you enter Hyrule Town, all of it's figurines become available.
5. Maybe, only certain monsters need to be seen to get the figurine.
6. The Funday School figurine is messed up.

Those are some ways in which I think this could have happened, but thay may not be true. I thank Wesley Rice for bringing this up.

Q: What are your favorite Zelda titles?

A: Zelda is one of my favorite series, and yes, I have beaten them all and even own them all (except for the infamous CD-i pseudo-series). Here are my favorites in order (I love them all, despite their place on the list):

1. Wind Waker
2. Ocarina of Time
3. Majora's Mask
4. A Link to the Past
5. Twilight Princess
6. Four Swords Adventures
7. Oracle of Seasons/Ages
8. The Legend of Zelda
9. Link's Awakening
10. The Adventure of Link
11. The Minish Cap
12. Phantom Hourglass
13. Four Swords

It's not your typical list of favorites, but it's definitely mine. I really don't put all of my faith in critic's reviews like many people do (even if these games are critically acclaimed). I go by my experience with the game. If my memories of playing the game are enjoyable, and I have the urge to go back and play them, then they are obviously my favorite ones. The list may switch around from time to time, but this is how I see it right now.
