i. Introduction

Hello and welcome to my FAQ for 2002 FIFA World Cup. This is a comprehensive FAQ that will detail how to play the game, as well as give a complete, statistical list of every squad to choose from. This FAQ is based on the GameCube version of this game, as I noticed that there was little FAQ coverage for this game on GameFAQs, and none whatsoever on the GameCube port, so I decided to go ahead and write for this game. 2002FWC comes from the same makers as the fabled FIFA series, based on the 2002 event of football's most famous tournament. It uses the same gameplay elements as the FIFA 1997 - 2002 editions, with a few minor enhancements such as shooting and passing meters, and has more of that World Cup feel to it. You can pick one of many international teams as you aim to guide them to 2002 World Cup glory. As well as this, there are a few All-Star teams to unlock, giving you some more replay value. Although outdated now, I still think there's a lot of fun to be had from this one, so if you're into your football games, this is by all means worth a play.

1. GAME OVERVIEW [0100]

1.1. Controls [0101]

Analog Stick: Move cursor in menu screens

Select between teams

Move player with marker over their head

Guide direction of shoots and passes

Move arrow guide to direct dead-ball shots

Start: Go to main menu from title screen

Pause & bring up Pause Menu while playing; resume when paused

A: Make selections in menu screens

Pass (hold down to build up pass meter & add more weight on the pass)

Perform low pass in dead-ball situations

Switch marker to player nearest to the ball when not in possession

B: Cancel selections made in menu screens/return to previous menu

Perform high pass/cross (hold down to build up high pass meter & add more height/distance on the high pass)

Perform high pass/cross in dead-ball situations, slide tackle

X: Shoot (hold down to build up shot meter & add more power on the shot),

Perform shot in dead-ball situations

Conservative tackle

Y: Repeatedly tap to make marked player run when used in conjunction with the

Analog Stick

C-Stick: Perform one-two pass

L: Add left-sided ballspin on a free kick/goal kick/corner kick between 2 mins, 4 mins, 6 mins, 8 mins, 10 mins, 20 mins and 45 mins.

- o Fatigue: When this is enabled, players can tire out as a match/tournament progresses. When a player becomes fatigued, their running, shooting and passing abilities start to decrease.

* Stadium Settings:

- o Stadium: Choose a venue to host a match:

Busan Sports Complex
Daejeon Stadium
Suwon Stadium
Seoul Stadium
Daegu Sports Complex
Ulsan Stadium
Incheon Sports Complex
Jeonju Stadium
Gwangju Stadium
Seogwipo Stadium
Sapporo Dome
Miyagi Stadium
Niigata Stadium
Ibaraki Stadium
Saltama Stadium
Stadium Yokohama
Shizuoka Stadium
Osaka Nagai Stadium
Kobe Wing Stadium
Olta Stadium

Or, select Random for the CPU to pick one of the above venues for you.

- o Day/Night: Obviously, choose to have the match held either in the Day or the Night, or Random.

* Gameplay Settings:

- o Difficulty Level: Adjust your game difficulty from between Beginner, Amateur, Professional and World Class.
- o EA Assistant: Toggle the EA Assistant On or Off.
- o Game Speed: Change the tempo of a match from between Slow, Normal, Fast and Fastest.
- o Referee Strictness: Random or Defined.
- o Define Strictness: Adjust this level if the Referee Strictness is Defined as to how strict you want the referee to be.
- o Bookings: Toggle this On or Off to have Yellow/Red cards shown or not in a game.
- o Offsides: Toggle this On or Off to have offside decisions or not in a game.
- o Injuries: If this is On, players can pick up injuries that can carry on through a match or a tournament.

- o Rumble Feature: Toggle this On or Off to have the GameCube Controller Rumble Feature enabled or disabled while you play.

* Visual Settings:

- o Camera: Choose the camera angle your match is displayed in.
- o Time/Score Display: When On, game time and score is displayed at the bottom of the screen (or top-left if Radar is On).
- o Radar: When On, a radar screen of players' positions is displayed at the bottom of the screen.
- o Player Names: When On, all on-screen players have their names displayed underneath them.
- o Wide Screen: Toggle the game's Wide Screen feature On or Off.

* Audio Settings:

- o SFX Mix: Custom, Commentary or On The Pitch.
- o Commentary Volume: Adjustable only if SFX Mix is set to Custom. This is automatically set at the highest level if SFX Mix is set to Commentary, and at the lowest level if SFX Mix is set to On The Pitch.
- o Game SFX Volume: Adjustable only if SFX Mix is set to Custom. This is automatically set at the lowest level if SFX Mix is set to either Commentary or On The Pitch.
- o Menu SFX Volume: Adjust this for the volume of Menu sound effects.
- o Menu Music Volume: Adjust this for the volume of Menu music.

* AI Settings:

- o Crossing Model: Choose between Normal or Assisted.
- o Power-up Speed: Move the notch to define Power-up Speed.
- o Run Indicators: When On, white spots appear on the pitch as recommended spots for players to make a run when you have the ball.
- o CPU Runs: Toggle if CPU players can make runs On or Off.
- o Star Abilities: When On, players marked with Stars can perform their Star Abilities, which are running, shooting or passing.

Team Management:

- * Starting Lineup: Here, you can choose any of the original international squads in the game, see their stats, and move players around to either start games or stay on the bench.
- * Formations: Here, you can set your squad's formation, the choices are 4-4-2, 4-5-1, 5-3-2, 5-4-1, 3-4-3, 3-5-2 or 4-3-3. You can also adjust the positions your Forwards, Midfielders and Defenders minutes (game time, not real time) plus stoppage time. After 90 minutes, the match is finished. If the game is drawn after 90 minutes in a knockout phase game, 30 minutes of extra time is played in 15-minute halves. If the game still ends up a draw after this period, there is a penalty shootout to determine a winner.

Player Name: Shown in the bottom left corner, this is the name of the player you are currently controlling.

Radar: Shown in the bottom centre of the screen. When this is enabled, you can see the positions of each player on the field, denoted by their respective kit colours.

2. RULES & GAMEPLAY [0200]

2.1. Open Play [0201]

A Game of Two Halves

Any half-clued football fan knows that every game is taken up in two halves. So when you begin your match, one team will attack the goal at the opposite end of their half, and for the opposing team, vice versa. You change sides after half-time. If you are playing a game that goes into extra time, you return to your original side of the field for the first period (15 mins) of extra time. You swap sides once more when you go into the second period of extra time.

Player Control

___ You control one outfield player at a time in a game. They are marked by a \ / triangle [1] or, for players with star abilities, a star [2]. All movement [1] is controlled with the use of the GameCube's Analog stick. Movement is the same whether or not you have possession - the only real major difference _/_ is that a player slows down by a degree when they have the ball at their \<>/ feet. To make a player sprint, repeatedly tap the Y button.

[2] To switch between players that you control, you either have to pass the ball in the direction of that particular player, or if you are currently not in possession of the ball, press the A button and control switches over to the player that is nearest to the ball.

Also, one last but somewhat important thing to know is that you can make your goalkeeper charge out of his area to challenge for the ball by holding Z (the goalie doesn't have to actually be the player you are controlling). On the easier skill levels you won't really have to call on this skill, but just in case the opposition gets a lucky break and you are in a one-on-one situation, it is a good idea to use this so that you can reduce the opposition's chances of scoring.

Passing/Crossing

All passes and crosses are measured by a white pass meter [3]. To pass to another player, while in possession of the ball just simply hold the Analog Stick to aim in the direction of the player you wish to pass to, and hold the A button down. The longer you keep the A button held down, the more the meter builds up. The more you fill up the meter, the more weight that is put on the pass. For example, if you just tap the A button, you'll make a very slow-paced, but accurate pass. However, the risk with this type of pass is that it can easily be intercepted by an opposition player. Likewise, by holding the A button and completely filling the meter, you'll make a strong pass that covers a lot of ground, but the downside of this is they're hard to aim and if your teammate misses the pass, it could go out of play for a set-piece in favour of the other team. Once you get used to playing about with this, you'll know how to measure your passes in most, if not every situation.

Crosses and high passes are executed with the B button, and are judged by the same meter as that which is used with normal passes. However, this performs higher passes that can go over opposition defenders, however they're trickier to aim and pull off than normal passes. Also, if you can get to the side of your opponent's penalty area, then turn to face the area, you can use this button to send in a ball for a teammate to either header towards goal, or take down and then try to shoot. Again, you'll need to practise well to know how much pressure to put on the cross - because if you don't put on enough it won't reach the intended target, or if you put on too much it will go much further than intended and most likely out of play.

Shooting

Any time you are in the opponent's half, you can take a shot at goal with the use of the X button. Like the pass and cross moves, shots also have a meter, albeit a differently shaped one [4]. Note that the last bar on the right of this meter is coloured red - if your shot builds up to here, the shot will have too much power and will be horrendously overhit - going well high and well wide. So, more often than not, you'll be wanting to try and get your shots as close to the red bar without actually filling it - this way you'll get more power and accuracy on the shot, especially if you're using a player with shooting as their star ability (their shots go much faster and beat the keepers before they can even react).

When you press the X button in your own half with the ball, this performs a clearance, in which a player simply hoofs the ball upfield. This will come in to help if the opposition is attacking, so just use this technique to get the ball away to safety.

Tackling

There are two types of tackles that can be performed when you are defending - these are the Conservative Tackle and the Sliding Tackle. Here is a definition of both:

- * A Conservative Tackle is performed with the X button. The player simply nudges the opponent in possession of the ball when you're next to them, to try and take them off the ball. You'll almost never commit a foul this way if you come in from the front, but from behind you'll never get the ball and may give the opposition a free kick. This is better to win possession and you'll be using it much more often than a sliding tackle.
- * A Sliding Tackle is performed with the B button. This is usually better to use as a last-ditch attempt if the opponent has possession deep into your half and is running towards goal. However, this takes very good timing and positioning to pull off well, and if you take out the opponent without winning the ball, you could end up being penalised or even sent off. NEVER try this against a player from behind, and NEVER EVER try this on the goalkeeper, as this results in a direct red card.

Offside

The old rule that is almost too difficult to put into words. An offside is committed when a player passes the ball to a teammate who is behind the opposition's last line of defence - and if this happens, the opposition is awarded an indirect free kick at the spot where the offside occurred. Remember, the player is only offside at the moment the ball is PASSED, not received. Here's an example.

X2 X1 has possession of the ball. Y1 is opposition player
Y -> nearest their own goal. X2 is nearer to the goal than Y2 Y1 Team -> and is therefore offside. If X1 passes to X2, offside is Goal -> called and Y Team are given an indirect free kick.

X1

X2 -> X3 X1 has possession of the ball. X2 is in front of Y1, who
Y -> is nearest their own goal therefore X2 is onside. X1
Y1 Team -> passes the ball while X2 is still in this position, but Goal -> X2 runs into position X3. However, as the ball was X1 passed before X2 ran behind Y1, the player is onside and can head towards goal.

2.2. Discipline

[0202]

Yellow Card

A yellow card is given to a player when they commit a foul on an opponent. This acts as a caution. Here are some notes on yellow cards and when they are given:

- * If you foul an opponent without getting the ball, this results in a yellow card.
- * If a player receives 2 yellow cards in the same game, this results in a red card and the player being sent off. In 2002 FIFA World Cup mode, if a player receives 2 yellow cards in the tournament (although not in the same game), they miss the next game their team plays after the receiving of the second card, that is if the team progresses to that next round.

Red Card

A red card denotes a sending off of the player whom it is given to. Two yellow cards will constitute an automatic red card, however in some circumstances for really severe fouls, this can result in a red card straight away. Here are some notes on red cards:

- * If a player gets 2 yellow cards in one game this results in a red card.
- * If a player commits a very dangerous foul (e.g. two-footed, studs showing and not getting the ball), this would be a foul that is given a straight red card.
- * If you foul a goalkeeper while they are handling the ball, the offending player is given a straight red card.
- * In 2002 FIFA World Cup mode, any red-carded player misses the next match of the tournament if their team progresses.

2.3. Set Pieces

[0203]

Throw-ins

\ / A throw-in is awarded when a player of the opposing team puts the ball out
/ \ of play over the touchlines. When you are given a throw-in, use the Analog
[1] Stick to move the aiming marker [1] and simply hold A to build up strength in the throw and when you let go, the ball is hurled in that direction.

Goal Kicks

.. A goal kick is awarded when a player puts the ball over the by-
. ` ` line behind the opposition's goal (either to the side of the goal
. ` ` or over it). The goal kick is taken on the corner of the 6-yard ` ` box nearest to where the ball went out of play. When you are ` ` taking a goal kick, a red arrow [2] appears to show the direction
` ` in which the kick will go. You can aim this with the Analog Stick,
` ` and add curve to the kick by holding the L or R buttons. Hold X to [2] build up power in the shot meter and then let go for the kick to be taken.

Corner Kicks

A corner kick is awarded when a player puts the ball out of play over their own by-line. The ball is placed at the corner nearest where the ball went out of play. Again, a red arrow appears to show where the kick will go. Move it with the Analog Stick, and put bend on the corner with the L or R buttons. You'll want to get enough power and bend to get it high into the penalty area, so that

4. 2002 FIFA WORLD CUP MODE

This is the main mode of the game. When you enter this mode, you can choose one of the 41 available international teams to guide them to World Cup glory. The competition structure is actually based on that from the real 2002 FIFA World Cup. If you pick a team that didn't qualify for the World Cup, that team is entered into a random group in place of another team and you'll play through as normal.

Here is the group stage structure of the tournament:

Group A

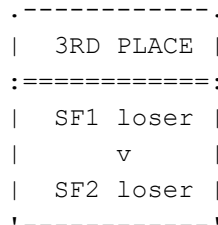

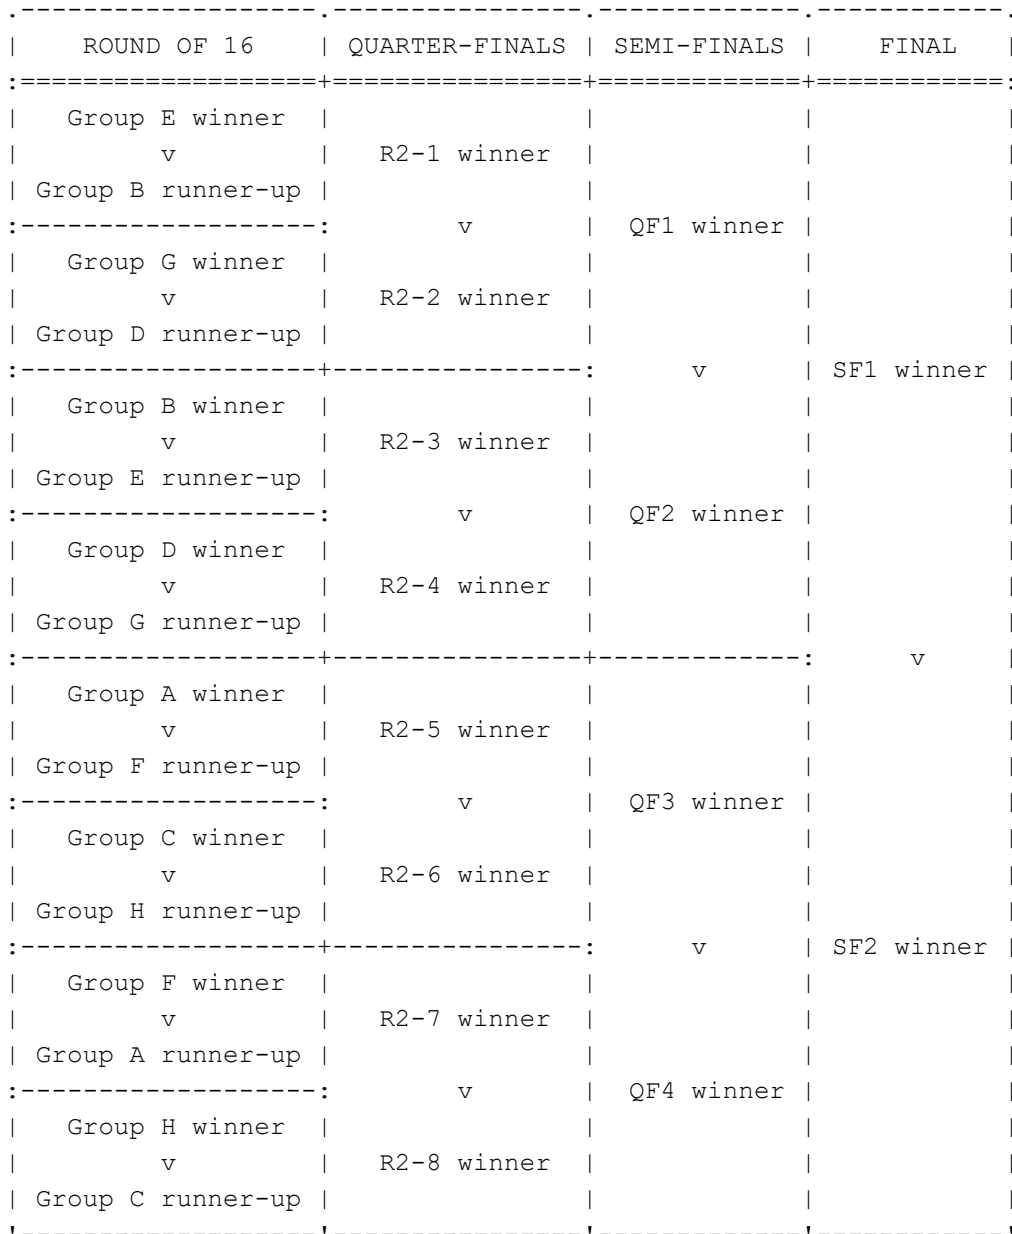

Group E

A = (Goals) Against
 Pts = Points

Knockout Stage

After three group stage matches, the group winners and runners-up proceed through to the Second Round, or the Round of 16 as it is also known. From there on, it is simply an elimination tournament through this round, the quarter-finals, semi-finals and then the final itself (preceded by a third place play-off) to determine the World Cup winners.

Here is a diagram of the knockout stage:

Finally, with the Team Management you can modify your starting lineup and bench. In Settings you can configure the game's settings, and Save Game allows you to save your progress in the tournament so far, which you can return to later by selecting Load Game in the Options menu.

That's about all you need to know for this mode, so enjoy playing!

Goalkeeper Glitch

If you want to score some really easy goals against your opponents, here's what to do: start a match and pause, going to Side Select and change the controls over to your opponents, then resume the game. Allow your opponents to get possession, then when they do, hold Z to make the goalkeeper come out. While still holding Z, press Start to pause, go back to Side Select and switch back to your original team. You'll notice that the opposition's goalkeeper will keep constantly charging out of their area for the ball, giving you an empty net to shoot at at will and you'll score plenty of easy goals. This glitch lasts until the end of the half.

Only these web sites may host my current and most up-to-date work. I am aware that older FAQs written by me prior to 2012 may also have other web sites stated as being authorised to host my work, and I will continue to allow them to do so, so please do not contact me about it. However, I am only able to keep tabs on my work for so many web sites and due to limited personal time, I have now kept this list comprised to those above for anything I have written as of 2012 and later. If you find a copy of this file on a web site that is NOT mentioned in the list above, it is being hosted against my permission and is therefore violating copyright law. Please contact me if you notice this.

This document, as well as any and all of my other works, is NOT, and NEVER will be permitted to appear at Cheat Code Central (<http://www.cheatcc.com/>). Dave Allison, the webmaster of this particular website is notorious for stealing FAQs and guides from countless authors and hosting them on his own web site, often altering disclaimers to appear as though his site is permitted to host it, and removing GameFAQs and other reputable web sites to make it look like they are not! This is a severe violation of copyright law and authorship rights and has been going on for the best part of the last decade, if not longer. If you have written any FAQs of your own and are asked by this web site to host it, I would personally advise you to politely reject the offer (as accepting would be indirectly supporting FAQ theft), but occasionally check the web site to make sure none of your work has been stolen/altered and posted there.

All information contained within this file was written by myself, or for any information taken directly from other sources, whether reworded or kept intact, are also clearly acknowledged within this file. If you are writing any literature related to this game, such as an article, review, or even an FAQ or your own and would like to use any small pieces of information from this file, feel free to do so as long as you clearly credit me for what you used. Failing to do so is plagiarism, and again, a violation of copyright law.

This file is dedicated to the memory of four late GameFAQs users, each of whom passed away well before their time. Chris MacDonald (d. May 17, 2004), Elliot Long (d. August 27, 2004), Mitchell Lee Stuekerjuergen (d. January 4, 2006), and Steve McFadden (d. June 28, 2011). The latter was one of my closest and dearest friends whom I had met through GameFAQs, and was one of the most well-known and prolific contributors to the site. Steve was an inspiration to myself to take up video game writing and always took the time to speak to me online about gaming or other interests, as well as comment on my writing. Rest in Peace guys, you will all be dearly missed.
