| Introduction.....[ntro] |

Hey. This is Browsersenemy here, with another Animal Crossing FAQ!

For a while, I've been saying that I would make an FAQ that had a password for every item in the game. Well, recently, with the disappearance of some generators from the net, and the complexity of the ones that remained, I finally told myself I had to buckle down and just do it, and wouldn't you know it, someone by the name of bombchul6 pops up and says that he's already generated most all of the codes! And on top of that, he gives it all to me! Sounds to good to be true, huh? Turns out, he's not to sure how to make guides (I couldn't really tell though, looks like he did a good job to me, I just tweaked his original design) so he tells me I can have the codes, and here we are!

As for how I know so much about the Password system, well, I've been working with it for at least 2 years as of this guide's publishing. Reading info from the creators of the original password generators, (which by the way, thanks Dog64 for pointing me in the right direction!) and eventually, I came to know the creator of the most powerful of the generators, Garycxjk. He and I worked on several aspects of the password system, eventually gaining so much control over it, that all we COULDN'T do, was build passwords for the famed Forbidden Four NES games, and make passwords that spell out things. I learned alot over the past two years. It's been a trip. And I hope to one day see the Forbidden Four, be Forbidden No More.

| How to use Passwords.....[help] |

If you're new to the password scene, or the gamecube version of Animal Crossing, you probably have NO idea what a password is or can do, or how to use it. Well, you're in the right section!

First off, there are two types of passwords. The kind that you tell to Tom Nook, the racoon that runs the store, and the kind that you have to mail to a villager. This guide uses the kind you have to tell to Tom Nook, because the mail kind, tends to take two days to get, and at times tends to be unreliable.

So, since this guide uses the Tom Nook kind, here's how to use them. First, if you've just created your character, then you'll have to make sure you're done working for Nook first. Then, talk to him, and select the option, "Other things", and from there, select "Say Password", and there you have it! After entering the password, press start, and if you entered it right, you'll get your item! Now, you can only do this for three items at a time, but there's a way around that. After the third password, just save and quit, (save and continue won't work) and then return to Nook for more! You can repeat this as often as you want, no time warping required.

Also, if you're just looking for quick cash, then you have two options. You can either use the 30,000 bell password, or if Nook is buying turnips for a load of cash, (you can find out how much he's buying for in the "Other Things" menu) then just use the 100 turnips password and cash in to your heart's content! Thing is though, Nook doesn't usually buy for much more than over 100 bells per turnip, and usually less than that, but on rare days, he can be seen paying 500 bells per turnip and up! so, with 100 turnips, times 500 bells... well, you do the math, just as soon as you get the dollar signs out of your eyes. In short, use the turnip code for cashing in big and maybe paying off your house when you get the chance, and the 30,000 bell code for cash on the spot, or when you just need to finish off that upgrade, and he's not paying much for turnips.

| FAQ's.....[????] |

Q: Will these work with the PAL (European) version of the game?

A: Yes. There's no real differences in the PAL and NTSC versions of the password system.

Q: Will these work with the Japanese version of the game?

A: Actually, no. The Japanese version uses a completely different password system. However, if you do happen to own the Japanese version of the game, then if you're able to find them, there are passwords for that version that can get you each one of the NES games. Shame they won't work on the American and European versions.

Q: Can you convert passwords between the Japanese and American/European versions?

A: Sorry again, but no. The differences between the Japanese and American/European versions are so drastic, that they don't even work the same way. So the only interchangeable passwords, are the ones built for the American and European versions.

Q: Why did you make this guide?

A: Because, alot of the good passwords are dissapearing, and some passwords, either don't always work, or don't work at all. This guide fixes that.

Q: But what about password generators?

A: They're also dissapearing for some reason. So, best to make use of them while they're still arround. Besides, not everyone knows how to use them, and don't feel like learning them. Also, some of them are pretty complex.

Q: What are the Forbidden Four?

A: They are Four NES games that can't be obtained through use of passwords. Two of them can still be gotten though, if you have a Gameboy Advance, an e-Reader, and the two cards that will give them to you.

Q: Ok, so what are the games?

A: The two you can get with the e-Cards are Super Mario Bros, and Ice Climber. The ones you can't, are The Legend of Zelda, and the original Mario Bros.

Q: So why call them the Forbidden Four, and not the Forbidden Two?

A: Because while two of them can be gotten with the use of e-Cards, the cards are a rare find these days and either way, NONE of them can be obtained through passwords or what is considered "normal play".

Q: What was Project Hyrule?

A: It was a system that was used so that you could get almost any item with a password, since at the time alot of passwords hadn't been found for items yet. So, if you wanted an item, all you had to do was name your character Link and your town Hyrule, and then you could use the passwords. This became virtually useless after the creation of the password generators.

Q: What are Password generators?

A: Most of the passwords here were made with one. In short, they basicly let you make passwords for almost any item. i say almost, because of theForbidden Four.

Q: What's with the wierd numbers by each item?

A: They are the numbers that the game uses for those items. Also, they can be used with certain password generators, or if you want to build your own, then you're more than welcome to use this to your advantage!

Q: Hey! I can't get this NES game password to work!

A: Why that is, is because some of them will only work if you have a town name and player name that matches the ones the password was made for. I'm sorry, but it can't be helped. Not to worry though, if you have a second memory card with enough space on it, just make a town that has the town and player names listed for the codes, and then take a trip to the town you want the games in, or just keep the town and play them there. Also, it's not very likely anyone will anymore, but you could ask arround some message boards for someone to make a custom codes for you.

Q: Could you make the custom codes for me?

A: Sorry, but no. I get alot of requests for this, but If I started answering them all, I'd be overwhelmed.

Q: This password doesn't work!

A: Okay, try switching your capitol O's for Zeros, and your Zeros for captial O's. Also, try switching your lower case L's for Ones, and your Ones for lower case L's. If none of that worked, then try emailing me. My email is in the contact information. If I don't answer, then try looking me up on the net.

0.00 Just started the guide. basic outline started, about half items named, 1 password generated.

0.99 A generous user in the forums says he started a guide himself, but instead offers me his passwords, which covers most of the items. Switched to using his guide instead, with heavy changes all over.

1.00 Last few codes generated, more things changed. Guide ready for release to the public.

1.01 fixed some errors in the guide thanks to nensondubois and SublimicNinja from Gamefaqs. Also, the guide is now allowed to be hosted on Super Cheats.

1.02 Fixed another bad code. If anyone finds any bad codes, please don't hesitate to report them.

Ah, the real meat of the guide. Almost every password here was generously donated, organized, and made, by Bombchul6 of GameFaqs. He made the general outline of the guide as well. I liked how he did it, so I just heavily modified his design, added several things, and finished up the remaining passwords. So a great deal of thanks goes to Bombchul6 for speeding this up by a great deal.

| Credits.....[thnx] |

- Mooglyguy - for creating the first password generator!
- Garycxjk - for converting and upgrading Mooglyguy's generator to the online generator! His was the one Bombchul6 used to make most of the codes in this guide! And for all of his time I took up learning from him. Honestly Gary, thank you.
- Bombchul6 - for building the bulk of the passwords in this guide!
- Dog64 - for helping me get started when I decided to start understanding the password system.
- Browsersenemy - myself, for making several changes to Bombchu's guide, and for finishing up the passwords and adding several things.
- Nintendo - for bringing Animal Crossing stateside in the first place.
