1 Update history

Version 1: 1st October 2003

(there was a typo here, so it said version 0.5 in the FAQ...)

Added some questions. 'Nuff said.

Version 1.2: 7th October 2003

Fixed a few errors, added an Update history, added some more interviews, and changed the credits so they are listed in alphabetical order.

Version 1.3: 11th October 2003

Added more questions. (all of the racers now have at least 1 interview)

Thanks to masteropokemon for pointing out a mistake I made with James McCloud.

Also, I now give F-Mode permission to use my FAQ on their site.

It's a great site that has pretty much everything on all the F-Zero games. Check them out sometime.

<http://www.planetnintendo.com/f-mode>

Version 1.4: 21st October 2003

what's there to say? Added more questions. A special mention goes to speedBOB and Spark Moon for submitting a TON of interviews. Keep up the great work everybody! Also, NeoSeeker now has permission to host this FAQ.

Oh, 1 more thing I forgot to mention previously: the GameFAQS user me_frog has included my FAQ within his, so check out his FAQ if you want a general guide for F-Zero GX.

Version 1.5: 5th November 2003

Not much really, added a handful of new interviews. Really just a minor update to reassure everybody that the FAQ is still being continued.

On a side note: happy Bonfire Night to everybody in the UK! :D

Version 1.51: 29th November 2003

What's this eh? An update with no interviews? Unfortunatly, my PC had popped its clogs, so I've had to sort that out. Because of this, I've lost the FAQ, and

I've had to copy
it off GameFAQS. I'll get started on restoring the FAQ. Sorry about that.

Version 1.6: 5th December 2003

I took my time, I know, but version 1.6 is here. You see, not only had my broken PC slowed me down, but I've also had Mario Kart and Falcon Densetsu distracting me too!

FINAL Version: 19th January 2004

Some good I am at updating, eh? But, we've come to the final version. Yeah, we don't have ALL of the interviews, but then again, did you really expect us to get 800 odd interviews listed? Besides, we have a LOT, which is good enough.
Actually, even though the is the "final" version, if I get enough requests, I MAY do one more version after this. So maybe this isn't the final version after all. Do'h.

FINAL Version: 20th June 2004

Just changed my E-mail address. That's it.

2 Introduction

F-Zero GX is a racing game for the Nintendo Gamecube, and is a joint effort between Nintendo and Sega, who used to be bitter rivals. Now they are working together to bring the latest installment of Nintendo's classic series, which started way back on the SNES.

Cutting to the chase, (so to speak) this FAQ aims to give everybody all of the interviews for each character. Whenever you win a Grand Prix race with any character, (custom ships don't count) you will be able to take part in a brief interview with "Mr. Zero", a freak with green hair and some stupid looking goggles.

There are 3-4 questions per character, which change depending on the difficulty. With 4 difficulty levels, plus some extra questions if you win one of the 2 secret cups, there are a LOT of different answers to obtain. As a result, if I am ever going to get all of the answers, then I am going to need help from you. Yes, YOU!

My E-mail address will be given out at the end, so you can mail me with any answers you have obtained. Everybody who contributes will be in the credits section, even if you only submit one answer.

Anyway, let's get on to the interviews! PLEASE NOTE THAT THIS FAQ CONTAINS SOME SPOILERS, as the secret characters will also be listed.

The characters will be listed in numerical order. For example, in the game, Captain Falcon is listed as racer no. 07, so he will be under 07 during the FAQ. If you want to find a specific racer, you can press CTRL+F and then type in their name or their race number.

Oh, one more thing: I need to add all that legal rubbish.

This FAQ is currently on:

GameFAQS (<http://www.gamefaqs.com>)

F-Mode (<http://www.planetnintendo.com/f-mode>)

Neoseeker (<http://www.neoseeker.com>)

I will allow my FAQ to be hosted on other sites, providing you ask me first. If I catch you putting it on your site without my permission, then I will have to come round to your house, and kick you in the groin. Then flush your head down the toilet. Then take all your money. Goodbye.

Q: A word for those you hurt?

A: Are you in agony? Are you in pain? Stay away from me, before I hurt you some more!

Q: Do you have any secrets you'd like to share with us?

A: Falcon, I'm not the only copy of you!

26: John Tanaka

Q: What's the essence of F-zero?

A: Love your machine. It's what gets you over the finish line.

Q: Why did you become a racer?

A: To protect Jody Summers.

Q: Can you repeat as champion?

A: I don't know if I'll win again, but I'll certainly be giving it my best shot.

Q. Looks like your days at the monastery paid off...

A. Yes, I only came down off that mountain twice!

Q: Nice F-Zero machine!

A: It's built to my own design. Every part I made with my own hands.

Q: Congratulations on your stunning victory!

A: Thank you. All my efforts paid off.

Q: How about an autograph?

A: Shall I write, 'With love...'?

Q: Those years as a hermit have paid off!

A: Yes. I only came down from that mountain once.

Q: How do you keep in shape?

A: Sports, and martial arts.

Q: You're quite the gentleman!

A: The martial arts taught me good manners.

I never really learned to fight though...

Q: What are you going to do with the 1 billion space credits in prize money?

A: I'll put a lot of it in savings.

27: Drag

Q: Would you like to dedicate this victory to someone?

A: I would like to dedicate this to my buddy, Roger Buster.

Q: Can you tell us why you became an F-Zero racer?

A: Is there anyone who does not want to become an F-Zero racer?

Q: How do you train?

A: I practice on the F-Zero computer game.

Q: Any regrets?

Q: I forgot to get Captain Falcon's autograph.

Q: What have you been interested in lately?

A: Dieting. It's really hard getting in and out of the racer.

Q: Got a message for your rivals?

A: Let's go one more lap, ANYTIME!

Q: What will you do with the 1 billion space credits in prize money?

A: I'm gonna buy out F-Zero machines and open an F-Zero museum.

Q: Have you thought of taking up racing full time?

A: Not a bad idea. I need to discuss it with my partner, Roger.

Q: What are your plans for the future?

A: Sign some autographs, shake some hands, do some interviews...

Q: Do you have to say anything to your viewers?

A: I'm Drag....The hero of F-Zero....Remember the name.

28: Roger Buster

Q: What will you do if the owner comes to claim that machine?

A: It's my job to deliver it to him.

Q: Congratulations on your victory!
A. Racing in F-Zero is no different than driving my truck.

Q: How do you relax?
A. I have a drink after work!

Q: Why did you become a racer?
A: Drag made me do it.

Q: Nice F-ZERO machine!
A: Yeah, it's mine until somebody comes to claim it.

Q: What will you do with the 1 billion space credits in prize money?
A: First, on an ice-cold drink!

Q: May I have your autograph?
A: Sure! I might even give out my own CD!

Q: What are your plans for the future?
A: I'm gonna have a long, nice bath...

29: Dr. Clash

Q: What do you plan to do with the 1 billion space credits in prize money?
A: I think I'll build a giant F-Zero machine.

Q: It looked dangerous out there!
A: They needed the screws in their heads tightened... I did it for them!
laughs

Q: That's a nice machine you got there.
A: No, it still needs work: the microwave is on blink and the TV is broken.

Q: We hear rumours of a giant F-Zero machine...
A: This is it! My giant F-Zero machine, Big Bear!

A: You're very brave to ask me that.

Q: Nice F-Zero machine!

A: laughs It helps me carry out my grudge.

Q: What will you do with the 1 billion space credits in prize money?

A: Do you think I will accept such a lousy sum?

Q: What is your vision of the future?

A: World destruction! Then, recreating the world the way I want it!

Q: Can you tell us why did you became an F-Zero racer?

A: To get rid of that eyesore, Falcon.

31: Don Genie

Q: Why did you become an F-Zero racer?

A: I don't think you petty humans could fully grasp my reasons.

A: Ha! I wouldn't waste one space credit on charity.

Q: What was your biggest purchase?

A. Controlling F-zero will be my largest financial investment.

Q: Do you respect any racers?

A: None of them amount to much, but Falcon has potential.

Q: What was the key to your win?

A: My own judgement. I defeated more rivals than there are stars in the sky.

Q: Nice F-Zero machine!

A: Of course it is! Do you have any idea how much I've spent on it?

Q: Can I have your autograph?

A: No! They're a complete waste of time!

Q: What are your total assets?

A: I get more interest per second than the prize money for this race!

Q: It's common knowledge that you've never been beaten.

A: That's right. I've taken every chance that I've been given. I clawed my way out of the slums.

32: Digi-Boy

Q: What else are you interested in?

A: Astronomy. It's the key to all my other scientific research.

Q: Is there a special girl in your life?

A. I wanted to see if my simulation of F-Zero was accurate.

Q: What are some of your other interests?

A: I would like to do more research on Samurai Goroh. He's intriguing!

Q: Nice F-Zero machine!

A: The computer does all the hard work. I can control it one handed.

Q: Is that your school badge?

A: It's from the Einstein Academy. That's where the best and brightest of the galaxy go. I'm their number one.

Q: May I have your autograph, Champ?

A: Hand writing is so primitive.

Q: Got a message for your rivals?

A: Huh? They think they can beat me?

33: Dai San Gen

Q: Which one of you will hold the trophy?

Q: What are your other interests?

A: One billion? hmm, hmm. With a little magic, I can triple that.

A: All the crashes and explosions; we hope you enjoyed the show.

Q: What was the key to your win?

A: Strategy. Not even the seasoned racers could anticipate my strategy.

A: My body, you mean? When I was born, I was put inside a globe.

Q: Got a message for your rivals?

A: You'd better have life insurance. Next time I raise the danger level.

Q: Can you tell us why did you became an F-Zero racer?

A: I wanted to put on a show at the greatest stage on Earth.

35: DaiGoroh

Q: Tell us about your father.

A: He's fat and he snores, but he's so GOOD at what he does! He's the greatest!

A: We never had this much fun in the Royal Palace!

A: giggles That is a very closely-guarded secret!

Q: Nice F-Zero machine!

A: I know! I had a hard time hiding it from my father!

Q: Do you like any of the racers?

A: Yes: Samurai Goroh. I've never met anyone like him.

Q: Is racing too rough for you?

A: I'm not the graceful type. I like the rough and tumble of a good fight!
giggles

Q: What was the key to your victory?

A: Luck, mostly. Unless the other drivers let me win.

Q: Congratulations on your stunning victory!

A: It was so much fun! I'd love to do it again.

Q: What's life like in the palace?

A: Private tutors and parties with my friends! Dull! Dull! Dull!

Q: May I have your autograph?

A: This is the last of my duties.

Q: Nice machine you got there!

A: It may not be that good, but it's pretty versatile.

Q: Congratulations on your victory!

A: I want you to realise that I'm even more capable than this.

Q: Talk about your organization.

A: We support the efforts of the Galactic Space Federation.

Q: Do you have any other intrests?

A: This may seem embarrassing, but I collect Frog Nic-nacks.

Q: What will you do with the one billion space credits in prize money?

A: I've love to spend it, but the organisation will decide how to spend the money.

Q: Got a message for your rivals?

A: I'll take that as a declaration of war against the organization.

Q: What kind of guys do you like?

A: The tall, handsome ones, of course!

Q: Why did you become an F-Zero racer?

A: It's my job. It's a part of my pilot training.

38: PJ

Q: Who are your worst passengers?

A: Drunks. And couples who can't get their hands off each other.

Q: What about that taxi CEO?

A: I want a bigger cab! Some of my passengers are 30 meters tall ya know!

Q: May I have your autograph?

A: signs At times like this I'm glad I have a short name.

Q: What are a taxi driver's worst enemies?

A: Traffic jams and the Galactic Space Federation. They're always after me for speeding violations, but so far they haven't been fast enough to catch me.

Q: Congratulations on your stunning victory!

A: I'm faster than any other racer out there!

Q: There must be a lot of people who want to ride in your cab.

A: I never refuse a passenger. But they should realize that my driving is very...thrilling!

A: When you wanna go out, call Galaxy Cab!

700 Space Credits accepted. We'll give you the ride of your life!

Q: Got a message for your rivals?

I won't let them beat me!

Q: Kudos on your expert victory!

A: It's a great feeling to get behind the wheel, and not worry about the fare meter!

Q: What are your plans now?

A: Overhaul the wheels: vehicle maintenance is a taxi cab's drivers basic.

Q: How about that prize money?

A: Well, before I answer that question...

Would you like a receipt for the one billion space credits?

Q: Nice outfit!

A: It's the Galaxy Cab uniform.

The star is for their best driver.

Q: A taxi driver's best feature?

A: Calm.

There's no room for calm in the F-Zero, though!

Q: Can you tell us why did you became an F-Zero racer?

A: I wanted to show how good we taxi drivers are.

39: QQQ

Q: You're a robot hero!

A: A hero? Me? I'm just a robot.

Q: What is your function as a robot?

A: I was originally designed for landmine detection and disposal. Hence the shock resistant body.

A: Thank you. It's hard to believe.

Q: what are your plans now?

A: My batteries are low, I need to recha....shuts down

Q: What do you do with your spare time?

A: Shop for spare parts. I like to customize the machine. And my body.

A: I was found in a trash heap. Now I want to show what I haven't done yet.

40: Phoenix

Q: Does F-Zero still exist in the 29th Century?

A: To a certain extent, yes, in a slightly different form. That's all I can say though.

You'll just have to wait and find out.

Q: That's a nice machine you've got there!

A: Yes, it's the very best of the 29th century.

Q: what are your plans now that you've won?

A: I have to say goodbye. There's a criminal I have to chase in the 32nd century.

Q: Kudos on your expert victory!

A: It's a privilege to have won such a prestigious race.

Q: How about that prize money?

A: I can't accept it. It's part of the time patrol credo. Use it for world peace.

Q: Could I join Time Patrol?

A: Of course. The patrol recruits from each century.

Q: Who have the time patrol been chasing this time?

A: A crim. We almost had him.

A: A racer from the 20th century taught me all of his secrets.

As I said at the beginning, I really need your help in order to complete this FAQ. I won't be able to do it myself! Therefore, you can e-mail me at carl.gford@gmail.com. Alternatively, you can post on the F-Zero GX board on GameFAQS. Look out for the thread "Interview FAQ".

If you e-mail me, please put F-Zero GX, F-Zero, Interview FAQ etc. , just so long as I know that it's for the FAQ, otherwise I might mistake it for junk mail. I've tried to be as accurate as possible, but if I've made any glaring mistakes, please correct me.

Also, please be aware that I may alter your submissions slightly for various reasons. For example, if your interview submission was A: I am lots better than Captain Falcon!

I would change it so it read: A: I am a lot better than Captain Falcon!

Also, check out F-Mode sometime if you're a fan of the F-Zero series. You'll be glad you did.

That is all.
