(This faqs may be used anywhere if you are going to use it please email me or pm me on neoseeker and tell me where you are putting it I will let you I would just like to know. Contact info is in section 8 of this faqs. The reason I didn't copy write it is because some people think you can just make a copy write but you have to send a form to the federal patent office and get one so those people actually don't have real copy wrights.) -_0

1.Chao World

How to get to chao world: You need to finish a level after finding a chao box (it is a blue box with a picture of a chao on it) then brake it open and get the chao key inside then after you beat the level you will be sent to chao world and if you go to stage select you can select it to go there anytime you want.

Chao Gardens: There are three gardens the regular chao garden the hero garden and the dark garden at first you will only have access to the regular chao garden but if you train a chao to be a hero chao and it evolves into one the hero garden will be unlocked same with the dark garden if you train a dark chao and it evolves you will unlock the dark garden. The regular garden is on the normal floor the dark garden is down stairs and the hero is up stairs. Also in the chao lobby (the place where all the gardens are) is the chao kindergarten 9explained in section 4)

Chao Teleporter:

The chao teleporter is located in each of the gardens and is used for trading chao with other sonic adventure 2 battle games or a GBA if you have the link cable and sonic advance for the GBA. You can also release chao if you don't want them or don't have enough space in the garden. You can basically figure out how to use it on your own it is pretty simple.

2.Raising Chao

Proper Care: Chao can live forever but only if you treat them well if you treat them badly they will eventually die instead of being reborn. Being happy if you treat them well you can do this by feeding them training them and petting them often.

Death: After chao evolve (which means you spend three hours with them) they become a certain type running, power, flying and so on after 9 hours after they evolve they will either reincarnate (be reborn) or die. If they are reborn they go into a pink cocoon and come out as an egg losing their type they are now a baby chao but will still have some of their stats from the adult stage but not much they will also have any awards they go from races (explained in section 5) Now if chao go into a gray cocoon they will vanish i.e. die and you can't undo this. The first evolution from being a child to becoming an adult they go into a blue cocoon and will turn into a certain type if you pet a chao with a hero character you can make a hero chao if you do this with a dark character you will make a dark chao.

5.Chao Racing and Karate

How to get to racing and karate: First go into the regular chao garden (explained in section 1) past the pond there should be rocks and a cave with a water fall on it go into the cave and a thing will say chao racing and chao karate.

You first need a chao before you can race or battle to hatch a chao go to the chao egg and pick it up then while holding the y button move the control stick and press until the label in the corner says whistle then do this twice if the egg doesn't hatch repeat this process until it hatches.

Once you have a chao you can race and battle it is good to train your chao before racing or battling. In the races once you beat all the beginner races more races will appear and once you have the hero and dark gardens more races will appear and eventually if you beat more races even more will appear (this doesn't happen with the karate)

Chao Racing Rules:

The first chao to complete the course wins. There are all sorts of stages some you need power others speed and flying and stamina for all of them some races combine all of these into one so you had better train a chao very well. Beware your chao can trip during a race making it lose a couple seconds which could let the other chao get ahead of you also in some races there are boxes the chao must open if they have a jack-in-the-box then they will fall over losing a couple seconds. Also some races your chao must pick up the item that a screen shows them if they pick up an item the screen didn't show them they will lose a couple seconds.

Here are a list of the races:

Hero Races:

Muck like the challenge races, you值1 receive a prize that remains in the garden. This time, there are only four races, and you值1 get a prize after completing the second and last races. The prizes listed here go to the hero garden.

2nd race: Ball

Last Race: Rocking Horse

Dark Races:

Muck like the challenge races, you值1 receive a prize that remains in the garden. This time, there are only four races, and you值1 get a prize after completing the second and last races. The prizes listed here go to the dark garden.

2nd race: Ball

Last race: Radio

Chao Karate Rules:

The fist chao to either lose all of it痴 stamina or fall off the stage loses. In the case of time running out, the chao with the most stamina remaining wins. At the bottom of the screen there is a small meter with hearts on it. When this starts getting low, your chao will become discouraged and well sit down, and possibly sleep. During this time, hit the A button as quickly as possible to recharge the meter and get you chao back into the fight. Your chao is very venerable to attack when discouraged, so be careful! There are three karate competitions to start: Beginner, Standard, and Expert. The super level becomes available when all three of those have been completed. The prize for completing each on is an emblem, and an improved rank for you chao痴 karate record.

Chao Karate Stats:

Most of the stats mean different things in chao karate.

Defense is your chao痴 swim stat.

Stealth is your chao痴 fly stat.

Speed is your chao痴 run stat.

Power is your chao痴 power stat.
Health is your chao痴 stamina stat.

6. Cheats

How to get coins fast:

Save up a lot of money and buy one of the items (i.e. box, pot, apple) that a chao can wear. Take it to a garden, drop it then leave Chao World so it saves. With that done go back into the garden and get the item, go back to the black market and sell it back to the guy for about a 1/4 of its痴

worth. Back out of the market so you are in the kindergarten, from there do a soft reset by pressing start+B+X (make sure to hold start b and x)

You should be at the main screen, go back into the game and go back to Chao World. Go to the black market and check your rings. You will have the rings from when you sold the box back. Now go to the garden that had the item, you should find that the item is right where you left it. Repeat as desired until you can afford the next highest costing item, then start from the beginning again.

Giving a chao a drive or animal without using it:

Walk up to a chao you want to give the animal or drive to and have the item in your hand but don't walk to close or it will take it. So when you stand there close but not too close push B to put the drive or animal down the chao will get experience but the drive or animal will be reusable.
