This guide is a work-in-progress, and may take some time to complete. I felt that it was sufficiently complete to post on GameFAQs for now. If you have any questions, corrections, or concerns, e-mail me at: hahnsoo(^at^)gmail(^dot^)com

The latest version will always be at Gamefaqs!

Note: This FAQ pertains to the US version of Phantasy Star Portable. The information listed below may not be the same in the JP or EU versions.

Phantasy Star Portable tracks a large variety of achievements as you play through Story Mode and Multiplayer. Some of these achievements will give you a title. Various rewards are earned from achieving these titles. To get the reward associated with the title, you must enter the GUARDIANS Colony and go to Your room > Game achievements > Rewards.

Some of the rewards are essential items such as the Resta TECHNIC and Goggles. Others are novelty items, like the Rappy Suit. Powerful S grade weapons can be earned from the various weapon titles.

All titles in this FAQ are listed according to the order that is in the game's Title Log. To access this, enter the GUARDIANS Colony and go to Your room > Game achievements > Title Log. This list also separates the various categories of achievements with a line break.

FAQ

All of the Slayer titles give you a Unit (armor upgrade).

All of the "Defeated X creatures", "Cleared free missions", and "Maximum damage exceeded" titles give you weapons. Some of them are gag weapons, while others are powerful uniques.

Rookie Guardian gives you Goggles. You can access the Goggles by either the palette (the wrong way) or simply pressing Select and then the Right shoulder button (the right way). Goggles allow you to see destroyable objects and hidden traps.

Superior Guardian gives the Aura Field, which is a Unit that makes you glow blue and adds a bit of stamina.

Ultimate Guardian gives the Whitill Wing, which is a Unit that makes you glow with white wings.

All of the Master titles ("Raised 10 X to level 30"), Battle Type titles ("Reached X level 5/10"), and Story Mode titles ("Cleared Chapter X in story mode") give various Photon Arts.

Willing Martyr gives Okikudohg, an excellent TECH-Mag.

Meseta Tycoon gives Meseta Fury, a Photon Art that allows you to shoot Meseta instead of bullets. Expensive!

All of the Collector titles give you a powerful weapon of the same type that you collected. You do not need to keep weapons in your storage or inventory to claim the title. You just need to have owned the weapon at least once, which makes the weapon show up in your Weapon Log.

For the Cooking Fighter title, you need to successfully use 10 grinders on a meat weapon without the weapon turning into a "Welldone" item.

For the Tourist titles, you need to complete all of the free missions, which includes several Co-Op missions only available in Multiplayer Mode. You need to complete each difficulty rank of the mission (C, B, A, and S), but you only have to complete the mission once in either Story Mode or Multiplayer Mode. For example, if you complete Plains Overlord C in Story Mode, you do not need to complete Plains Overlord C in Multiplayer Mode (even though it is marked as incomplete). All of the Co-Op missions can be completed alone except for the Cost of Research missions in Neudaiz.

All of the Tourist titles give a Unit (armor upgrade) that reduces PP spending for a particular type of Photon Art, at a certain cost (increased PP spending on a different Photon Art type or reduced stats).

Not the Only Hero gives the Rappy Suit, a gag outfit.

Title Collector gives the Opaopa, a rapid fire R-Mag.

PS Perfect gives a powerful sword named Hyakkaryolan.

When you start a New Game+ by copying a Clear Save character, you lose all of your titles. You can re-earn the titles as usual. Since you start with all of your levels, you will unlock several level and battle type titles when you first enter your room.
