Introduction

Why a FAQ for Spice World? Why not? The game is a fun, whimsical interactive experience where you control the staging of a Spice Girl video appearance. This game may be pretty shallow, but it is a fun little disc to play around with if you are a Spice Girls fan.

Updates

- March 5th 2001: I wasn't planning on updating this, and all I fixed was the format, added the Ascii art, and put in my correct e-mail address.
- February 2nd 2000: Everything you see is new.

Game Modes

-Section 1: The Mixing room-

The mixing room is where you get to remix 5 different Spice Girls songs. The songs that can be remixed are Wannabe, Move Over, Who Do You Think You Are?, Spice Up Your Life, and Say You'll Be There. The mixing room is very limited, as each song is broken into 9 separate samples, but there are parts missing from the samples, so the complete song can't be re-created. Each remix can have 18 samples in it, and though it is limited, you can still make some decent mixes.

-Section 2: Dance Practice-

Dance practice is where a dancing instructor with a huge afro teaches the girls new moves. Each girl has 11 moves to learn, and they are imputed by hitting the correct button when the symbol is on the screen. Running at the bottom of the screen is a bar that shows the moves. Succesfully completed moves are colored in, unsuccessfully completed moves are greyed out.

-Section 3: Dance Record-

In the dance record section you practice the moves you are going to do on the TV show. You can do any of the moves taught to you in the dance practice, in any order, however many times you want. But it is better to mix it up, and choose different moves so the show doesn't get repetitive. Once you have completed the dance moves for one girl, you can either choose to record a new set of moves for the next girl, or you can use the previous set of moves to save time.

-Section 4: The TV Studio-

The TV studio is where the girls perform there songs, and do there dances that you made. Now you get to move the camera around onto which Spice Girl you want to see. You are in charge. It's also cool to note that each girl moves there lips when they are singing. So try to catch them with the camera while they are singing.

-Section 5: Spice Network-

The Spice Network is a collection of video clips of the spice girls talking about various things that the interviewer asks them. The Spice network plays the videos in a random order, so it's different every time you go to it.

-Options-

In the options menu, you can change the volume for the music and sound effects, load a previously saved game, or change which Spice Girl you are controlling.
