1- Introduction [A100]

Welcome to another one of my FAQ's. As usual, I don't say a word about the game in the Introduction. I won't update the FAQ section not anymore after I release the complete version. But everybody can send me tips and questions. If they are big enough, I might consider updating it despite that.

Do you love cookies? Then try Yoshi's Cookie! This fast-paced puzzle game is fun for kids of all ages. It's easy - just to move randomly placed cookies (Heart, Flower, Diamond, Check, Circle and Yoshi) into rows and columns of the same type. If you make a row or column of the same cookies, the line disappears and you score points. Remove more then one row or column at a time for really big points!

In the one-player action game, clear the screen and you advance to the next more challenging stage. Use the special Yoshi Cookie as a wild card for even more points!

In the Vs game, test your skill against a friend or the computer. Race against the clock to clear enough rows and columns first. Every row or column you remove gives you a Yoshi Cookie. Remove a row or column of Yoshi Cookies and pull some wild tricks on your opponent but watch out! Sometimes those tricks can backfire.

The Puzzle game tests strategy, not speed. You're given a limited number of moves to clear all of the cookies from the screen. Pass all of the levels and reveal the secret of Mario World map.

Password: ZP.LV55

This puzzle does not belong in world 10 since it's so simple! Just line up the circles on the top row!

Stage 8

Password: S!BLV4R

Move the bottom row to the right. This is the hardest part of this puzzle as you'll be tempted to move it to the left and make that row of hearts. However, if you do that, you'll fail. After your first move, you have to move the first row from the left one place up which will cause a little chain reaction. Move the second and sixth row from the left one place down and then you'll have to move the fourth vertical row, the middle one, one place down and then one place up. This may seem weird but it is the right thing to do. After that you'll have to put the Chocolate Cookies on top of each other. After that, you'll have to do the same for the Flower Cookies. With this move, you'll solve the puzzle and with one move left. This means there is another solution out there so if you're lucky, you will see what I didn't see.

Stage 9

Password: K?LLV0V

Move the far right column down 3 times. Then move each of the top 3 rows once to the left.

Stage 10

Password: DQVJV4J

Move the far left column down once. Then move the far right column up once. Finally, counting from the top, move the 1st and 5th rows once to the left and the 3rd and 7th rows once to the right.

 The end *****

After you beat the last puzzle, what should be a breeze with this
