Exhibition: There are plenty of Exhibition matches to choose from. Try 'em all!

Career: A lifetime's worth of glory in one intense season.

Tournament: Eight wrestlers compete in heated tournament play.

Create: Visit this loony laboratory and create your own wrestlers, pay-per-views and stables!

    Bio Room: Step into the bio room to view tons of fun facts about your favorite wrestlers.

Utilities: Set and save options, and save cheats.

STARTING OUT

We'll begin by showing how the game works when you choose Exhibition mode. Other modes work in a similar fashion. See Game Modes & Match Styles on page 11 for details on the different modes. After selecting Exhibition from the main menu, you'll select the kind of match you want to thrash in.

Number of Players

Choose how many human players will compete.

Match Type

Choose which match you wish to maul in. See Match Styles for details on each type of match.

Selecting Wrestlers

After choosing the number of players and the match type, you're ready to pick your grappler(s). Use the DIRECTIONAL BUTTON to scroll to the desired wrestler and press the A BUTTON to select, or press the Right Trigger to have the computer randomly select a wrestler. Depending on the type of match, you select the wrestler you want to control, those the computer will control, or have random ones assigned. In Career Mode, you pick one wrestler (two in Tag Career) to guide through an entire bloody season.

In all other modes, Player 1 selects CPU wrestlers. And don't forget, you can load it for use in any game mode.

OPTIONS

After selecting a match and wrestler(s), choose Start Game and let the begging begin at default settings, or set some options. The options available depend on the type of mode and match you select.

MATCH OPTIONS

None: A regular match with no special settings or rules.

Deathmatch: Make weapons available during the selected match, and no count out!

Cage Match: Battle in a steel cage, and climb over the top to victory.

Last Man Standing: Once an opponent is knocked down, a counter counts down from 10. If the number reaches zero before the wrestler stands back up, you win!

Streetfight: This allows players to be pinned inside or outside of the ring.

Barbed Wire: Replace ordinary ring ropes with barbed wire!

Dumpster Match: Looks like someone forgot to take out the trash! To win you must throw your opponent in the dumpster.

Table Match: There are tables around the ring; put your opponent through them for some extreme action. No table cloth tricks here, just brutal brawling. Check please!

Brimstone Match: In this hellish match you have to toss your opponent over the ropes to finish him off.

Rage in the Cage: Civilization continues to decline in this roaring cage fest.

Backlot Brawl: Behind the scenes havoc not for the timid.

WIN MODIFIERS

Iron Man Match: The winner is the player with the most pins within a given match length (time).

I Quit Match: A player can only win by forcing the opponent to submit.

Finisher Only: You can only win by using your finishing move on your opponent.

2 out of 3 Victories: Meet the win conditions two out of three times to win the match.

GAME OPTIONS

Belt Challenge: Choose to make this match a belt challenge (ON) or a regular match (OFF). This option is only available between human opponents and at least one of them has to have a belt.

RING DISPLAY + METERS

TIMER

TIE UP METER
HEALTH METER

Tie Up Meter: This meter measures your advantage in a tie up. Start off with ready moves like punches and kicks until the tie up meter appears. As a wrestler scores hits, the box beside the wrestler name changes from green to yellow to red. Green means you can get off low damage tie up moves, yellow equals medium and red equals high damage moves. The DIRECTIONAL BUTTON plus the Kick BUTTON performs low damage Tie-up moves. The DIRECTIONAL BUTTON plus the Punch BUTTON performs medium damage Tie-up moves, and the DIRECTIONAL BUTTON plus the Tie-up BUTTON performs High damage tie-up moves. Warning: Trying to perform moves that are higher damage than you have the advantage for will perform weak, easily reversible moves.

Health Meter: The health meter shows each wrestler's condition, and ranges from green (top condition) to orange (beginning to weaken) to red (danger–look out for pins and finishing moves).

Damage Meter: The damage meter shows the type of damage inflicted on your opponent. The meter range is Low, Medium, High and Extreme.

PAUSE SCREEN

Press the START BUTTON at any time during a game to bring up the Pause menu. This screen allows you to view the current match type, win modifier (if any) and win location. You can also Resume play, view your Move List to see all the moves and controls for your wrestler's current situation, or Quit the current match and return to the main menu.

Moves List: All moves in the move list are color coded by the damage they do. RED = high damage, YELLOW = medium damage, GREEN = low. For example: Each red move in the move list is a high damage move, yellow does medium damage, and green does low damage. High damage (red) ready moves can only be performed when the opponent is dizzy and high damage tieup moves can only be performed when using the red tieup advantage. All other situations for high, medium, and low damage can be performed at anytime.

Match Statistics

At the end of each match, the computer helpfully totes up a wide array of useful statistics; so many that it takes two screens to view all of them. Check out how often you use which moves, your submission attempts, how long the match was—we tell you everything but what you ate!

GAME MODES

EXHIBITION

An exhibition match is a single match of any type. Exhibition mode is great for trying different wrestlers, different moves, different matches, even different hair styles (using a created wrestler)! This is a great place to practice before taking it on the road in Career mode. Exhibition matches don't count in the standings.

CAREER MODE

Once you've got some skills, you'll be eager to test them for an entire season in Career mode. This is the road to the championship, and it's paved with the pitiful wailing of wilted wannabes who thought they had what it takes. Only the elite few make it all the way to the top. Are you ready for the ultimate test?

You begin at the bottom and battle up the ladder to the pinnacle of the profession, the ECW World Heavyweight Championship. There are several levels of titles; success at one only gives you the right to fight for another while you defend your current title, and there's always some ambitious @#$% trying to knock you down and take your crown. It's a long road from rags to riches. You'll need all the luck, skill and cold-blooded determination you can muster to avoid riding the wuss-wagon home while someone better waves from the express to success. There are three ways to play in career mode:

Standard: You guide one wrestler through an entire season of gouging, grappling and getting even.

Tag Team: Take two tag team partners to the Tag Team Championship—if you can!

Stable: There's more madness when you guide a gang to the top of the heap.

Career Matches

You have a schedule of matches each week as you tour the country. Friday's matches are televised on TV, and there are special Pay-Per-View matches too. There are three championship levels: World Television Championship, World Heavyweight Championship, and World Tag Team Championship.

TOURNAMENT

Why not start at the top? The Tournament is a series of regular one on one Vs. matches. Each time you win, you advance to the next tier. When there's no one left to beat, you're the winner! Up to eight human players can compete in a tournament. Player 1 selects the wrestlers, then all players take turns, using controllers 1 and 2. If you like, you can simulate tournament games, choosing to view the simulation or just view the winners.

MATCH STYLES

Most matches can be played in two ways: normal and elimination. In normal matches, you win when you beat your first opponent. An elimination match requires you to beat all your opponents. Elimination matches are indicated by an asterisk (*) on the match select menu.

Normal matches

Vs.: A one on one battle. Each player selects a wrestler. The match continues until the rules set up by the player are satisfied.

Tag Team: In tag team wrestling, two teams of two wrestlers each compete one on one, with only two "legal" wrestlers in the ring at a time. A wrestler in the ring tags his teammate to come in and take his place. An illegal wrestler can enter the ring for a five second count, but then must exit and return to his team corner.

Tornado: Tornado matches feature four wrestlers in the ring at once in bracing two on two action. The match ends when both wrestlers on a team have been eliminated. When a single wrestler is eliminated, it's two on one inside the ring, but beware: The eliminated wrestler can continue to wrestle outside the ring.

One on Two: It's not fair, but it's plenty of fun. One wrestler takes on two opponents at once, and must pin one in order to prevail.

One on Three: This is really tough! You'd better be among the best if you hope to avoid a beating with three wrestlers ganging up on you at once!

Lumberjack: Two wrestlers battle it out, and they better keep their thing in the ring, because there are two CPU wrestlers waiting at ringside, ready to hand a beating to anyone who (willingly or not!) leaves the ring.

Three Way Dance: Three wrestlers compete until one pins or forces another to submit. It's every madman for himself!

Four Way Dance: Four wrestlers compete until one submits or is pinned.

Battle Royal: There are four wrestlers in the ring at all times, each trying to be the last one left. You can't leave the ring, and there are no pins, no submissions and no count outs. Eliminate your foes by throwing them over the ropes!

Hate Match: OK, hate's a pretty strong word, but you'll know the incredible action in a hate match, as wrestler after wrestler comes into the ring to serve up some severe beatings. This is the toughest match there is, and small wonder: If you thought one on three was hard, try going one against 12!

Team Rumble: Pick some team members, then get ready to rumble as the ring becomes a furious free for all match.

Stable Match: Four teams of four wrestlers test their mat acumen in a fierce free for all. As soon as one wrestler is defeated, another comes in. The last wrestler on each team can battle any opponents outside the ring.

12

Elimination Matches

Vs.: In this mode, the two wrestlers start off in the ring, but one opponent is allowed to select a four man team. The player with only one wrestler must defeat all the other wrestlers! In a 1 player Elimination Vs. match, you fight to eliminate one CPU wrestler, until another comes in. You win if you can defeat all four—one by one!

Tag Team: One Tag Team versus two Tag Teams! Tough stuff!

Tornado: One team of two takes on two teams of two with Tornado rules. That means that all four wrestlers are legal in the ring at all times!

One on Two: It's double the danger as you take on two wrestlers intent on beating you into submission. Twice the trouble and half a chance to win!

One on Three: Try taking on three wrestlers at once. It ain't easy, brother. Battle to be the last one left.

Eight Man Tag: Let's jack up the team numbers and see what happens! It can't be pretty.

Battle Royal: The parade of punishment features four wrestlers in the ring at all times. The winner is the last man in the ring. Action continues until every wrestler has been in the ring. See Normal Battle Royal.

Three Way Dance: A free-for-all with three wrestlers. Once two have been eliminated, the one left is the winner.

Four Way Dance: It's cruel, but not at all unusual as four wrestlers grapple in an every-man-for himself contest. Thrive? You'll be lucky to survive!

Co-Op Matches:

Take yourself and a teammate through the mighty co-op matches.

2 players

Co-op Tag Team: Tag yourself and a friend up against two computer controlled opponents. One user will be the illegal wrestler (standing on the apron) that can perform a sneak attack within the 5-second counter. This is a great time for a double team move. (See Tag Team)

Co-op Tornado: You and a teammate taking on two computer opponents with all four wrestlers in the ring.

Co-op 2 on 1: You and a teammate beat the $'&% out of one computer opponent. This is where you can beef up your 2 on 1 skills.

Co-op 3 on 1: Yet another stomp on the computer, but you are given one more teammate which is also computer controlled to help out with the master beating to the opponent.

Co-op 8 Man Tag Try a four on four tag fiesta!

Co-op Rumble: Use a teammate in this fierce match to team up on the many other cpu opponents.

15

3 players

Co-op 3 on 1: All three users up against the solo cpu for the pummeling of his life.

SPECIAL MATCHES

You can perk up some matches by turning on such options as Deathmatch, Last Man Standing, Barbed Wire or Table Match, just to name a few. These matches can be vastly entertaining or tremendously troubling, sometimes both. Try a couple. We think you'll find that fighting in a Dumpster is all you hoped for and more.

CREATE MODE

Create mode lets you build custom wrestlers, pay-per-view events and stables and save them to your MEMORY CARD for future use.

Hints + Tips

· During an Exhibition match with any wrestler, press the START BUTTON to see his move list. All moves that the wrestler can do from the given situation are displayed and color coded. Green for Low damage, Yellow for Medium, and Red for High.

· If you want to do the big bad power moves, you'll need to get your Tie-Up meter in the Red and then Tie-Up your opponent by pressing the B BUTTON. From there, you can pull off killer moves that will make the audience cheer.

· When your wrestler's name flashes, it means that you have won the support of the crowd thanks to your excellent performance. This will give you a rush and let you do more damaging moves. Conversely, don't just pull the same move off over and over or the crowd won't like it and your performance will suffer.
