RULES

Foul: When you foul by sliding in behind an opponent, the opposing team gets a free kick. If you commit the foul in the penalty area, they get a penalty kick (see: P-K, page 16)

Yellow cards and ejections: You are penalized with a yellow card when you execute a dangerous play, such as a sliding foul. When you accumulate 2 yellow cards, you are penalized with a red card and ejected from the game. You cannot sub for an ejected player—you must play with one less player.

Passing back to the goal keeper: The goal keeper cannot use his hands when receiving a pass from a teammate.

Offside: An offside occurs when you pass the ball to a teammate who is beyond all opposing defenders. You may dribble a ball past the last defender without being offside.

When a play goes offside, play resumes from that field position.

Direct free kick: A team receives a direct free kick when the opposing team commits a foul. The kicker may aim his kick directly for the goal.

Indirect free kick: Also the result of an opponent's foul, this kick only counts if it is touched by a teammate before going into the goal.

P-K: A P-K results when one of your defenders commits a foul that would result in a free kick during action in your teams penalty area.

Free kick: This is an unblocked kick from the field position at which the foul occurred.

Corner kick: A corner kick occurs when one of your players is the last player to touch a ball before it goes out-of-bounds past your goal line. The opposing team gets to kick the ball into play from the corner closest to the out of bounds point.

Throw in: When the ball goes out of bounds on the sidelines, the team that was not the last to touch the ball gets to throw it in from the out-of-bounds point to resume play. No goal is counted, however, should the thrown ball go into the goal.
